

Economics of Coronavirus-Issues and Challenges

We are inviting articles on “Economics of Coronavirus-Issues and Challenges” to be published in our CDES with ISSN in e-mode. The last date for sending scholarly article is 15.05.2020 and scholars may choose from any one of the broad themes listed below. We accept articles in the related field also.

1. Medical history of pandemic diseases
2. Psychological issues of COVID-19
3. Sociological effects of COVID-19
4. Political aspects of COVID-19
5. Geopolitical issues of COVID-19 by including regional issues
6. Epidemical issues of COVID-19
7. World economy and COVID-19
8. Indian economy and COVID-19
9. Health economics of COVID-19
10. Impact of COVID-19 on the economy
11. Monetary and fiscal measures and COVID-19
12. Global value chain and COVID by including all sectors and their issues
13. Philosophical and ethical issues in COVID19
14. Legal aspects of COVID-19
15. Bioengineering and genomics and COVID-19
16. Artificial intelligence and COVID-19
17. International agencies-UN, WHO,IMF,, IBRD, ADB, UNDP etc.,
18. Tamil Nadu economy and COVID-19
19. Controlling COVID and the futurology of such pandemics

The article/research paper written in English should be preceded by an abstract and ends with five key words. The Authors must use international format with references, table, charts etc. The manuscript should be prepared in Times New Roman with 12 fonts in MS office word format in compatible mode. The total pages in single space should not exceed 10 pages. The references and reviews should be presented in the acceptable international format.

The CDES is inclined to contribute to the international research arena on issues helpful for growth of knowledge which is helpful to the society. The Authors to adhere to ethical norms in their works to upgrade quality research works in the subjects. It is the duty of the Authors to follow acceptable reporting standards, own data or published data with due permission from the publisher, original work, free from plagiarism, without concurrent publication of the same work, disclosure of financial or conflict of interest in case of funded works, proper care for the works relating to hazardous/human/animal subjects etc.

Copyrights of articles published in CDES will be retained by the authors with condition of not publishing the same paper again in some other form. The CDES is not responsible for any subsequent uses of the article downloaded by the user in the future. The Author on his own may take appropriate infringement action against the user without involving the CDES. The publisher's role ceases to exist after the publication of the articles.

The articles be sent to info@cdes.org.in/stnavukkarasu@yahoo.com

Dr.S.Thirunavukkarasu
Editor