

Editorial Note

Greetings! our best wishes to all the readers and well-wishers of the Journal of Development Economics and Management Research Studies (JDMS). The pandemic that has subdued so far is emerging again with different variants. It is going to be a big threat to India and other countries and may impact consumer demand, corporate performance and will hinder our efforts in abating inflation. The budget for 2023-24 is under preparation by the Government of India and we hope that it may incorporate a unique scheme for establishing a strong indigenous industrial base with the Make-in-India concept, employment creation efforts to be made with inclusive youth orientation, the income inequality which pushed our country below some of the Asian countries needs our special attention on areas like gender gap, urban-rural disparity etc., agriculture requires our continued priority as it has inherited weakness which is still unabated, the NEP with a sufficient allocation of funds alone will bring the desired results.

We invite scholarly articles from people across the field as per the guidelines given on this website.
