

Editorial Note

Greetings! Our best wishes to all the readers and well-wishers of the Journal of Development Economics and Management Research Studies (JDMS).

The world is moving towards banning diesel and petrol cars. The USA will be banning them from 2030 and necessary law has been enacted by them in the year 2021. France banned heavy gas emitting vehicles from June 2022 onwards and also it is going to terminate fossil fuel vehicles from 2040. The European Parliament has permitted to ban on petrol and diesel cars from 2035 and zero emissions from 2035. The UK is also planning to ban such cars from 2030. In India, the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas submitted its plea to ban diesel cars from 2027 in the cities to attain the Net Carbon Zero target and also no non-electric buses from 2030 onwards. All these steps taken by these countries will open the eyes of the other countries to follow to achieve the major steps towards zero emission for a clean world.

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) and World Bank Group (WBG) will be meeting with “central bankers, ministers of finance and development, private sector executives, civil society, media and academics to discuss issues of global concern, including the world economic outlook, global financial stability, poverty eradication, inclusive economic growth and job creation, climate change, and others” at Marrakesh, Morocco from 09.10.2023 to 15.10.2023. I am glad to share that I have been invited to participate as CSO Parliamentarian and I wholeheartedly thank them for inviting me to this programme.

We invite scholarly articles from interested scholars across the field as per the guidelines given on our website <https://www.cdes.org.in/about-journal/>.
