

Editorial Note

Greetings! Our best wishes to all the readers and well-wishers of the Journal of Development Economics and Management Research Studies (JDMS).

The Russia-Ukraine war, the Isreal-Middle East war and the latest Iran-Isreal conflict are the major issues threatening world peace. The instability and turbulence caused by this conflict will have cascading and spillover effects across the countries. The economic impact will be severe not only for the countries involved in the conflict but also for other countries due to supply chain disruptions. The UN has an imperative role in stopping the ongoing conflicts among these countries by involving world leaders to avert the human and economic losses and the agonies of people in these countries.

2024 is better than 2023 but during 2024 the world economies are facing many crises, seething geopolitical tensions, international shocks, regional disparities, labour market issues, SDGs achievements etc.

Let us welcome 2025 with a year of global peace and cooperation.

We invite scholarly articles from interested scholars across the field as per the guidelines given on our website <https://www.cdes.org.in/about-journal/>.
